

POPULAR CHEF'S CIRCLE RETURNS TO SALEM FARMERS MARKET THIS SATURDAY

For Immediate Release

June 1, 2010

The Chef's Circle on the Salem Farmers Market is all set for another fun and tasty summer as many of the top chefs in the valley are scheduled to work their culinary magic inside the City's one-of-a-kind mobile kitchen. The cooking demonstrations will once again begin at 9:30 a.m. each Saturday morning, and this year some celebrities are dropping by to help out in the kitchen.

Robin Reed, WDBJ-7's Chief Meteorologist and an avid cook himself, will help kick-off the 2010 season on June 5 with the incredibly talented Chef Jeff Bland from US Foodservice. Roanoke Times Food Writer, Lindsey Nair, will join us in July, while legendary Roanoke Radio Personality, Larry Dowdy, will be with us in the kitchen the first Saturday in August.

The Chef's Circle is free, fun and informative. Bring your lawn chair, your appetite and your imagination and join us this summer on the Salem Farmer's Market where things are always Homegrown Fresh and Homegrown Friendly!

Get more information on the 2010 season, bios of the chefs, the history of the Chef's Circle, plus recipes from the 2009 season at our website www.salemva.gov/chefscircle/

CONTACT:

Mike Stevens
City of Salem
Communications Director
(540)375-4112 office
(540)353-2041 cell
(540)375-4048 fax
mstevens@salemva.gov